

Classroom at the End of the Hall

I sweep the mats each morning, and I mop the hallway floor.
I hear their whoops and whispers beyond the classroom door.
I wonder what they're plotting, what tricks and pranks they'll play.
I wonder which third-grader they will select today.

Chorus:

Beware all you children. Look out one and all,
For the classroom creatures at the end of the hall.

Verse2:

You might meet the Chalk Dust Genie or the Messy-Desk Pest,
Miss Tra-La-La, or Spot, or Moe who'll test your test.
Could it be the Homework Gnome or Ticonderoga 2?
Will Bob, the Spelling Worm, start spelling words for you?

Chorus:

Beware all you children. Look out one and all,
For the classroom creatures at the end of the hall.

Music

Verse3:

The Other Witch, Sub Dude, or Dilly Dally might appear.
Mary's Lamb could follow; the Bug whispering in your ear.
Watch out for the Chatterbox, and Burp, the School Alarm.
Hope you don't get Mouth Moths or Math Rashes on your arm.

Chorus:

Beware all you children. Look out one and all,
For the classroom creatures at the end of the hall.
